AFTERMATH OF EARTHQUAKE.

Scraping Between Governor and Mayor Over Question of Authority.

LIGHT TURNED ON.

Another Quake Wednesday That Killed One Person and Shook Down Walls.

San Francisco, April 27.—At 3:15 Wednesday afternoon a shock of earthquake was felt. It lasted nearly a minute and caused considerable alarm, killing one person by a falling chimney. A number of walls of the burned buildings standing in weak condition were thrown down, and the frail buildings were considerably shaken up.

There was a spirited clash of words yesterday between Gov. Pardoe and Mayor Schmitz over the demand for the discharge of the national guards.

SANTA ROSA'S LOSS.

Santa Rosa, Cal., April 27.—The latest figures show 41 dead, 63 injured and 17 missing here. The entire business section of Santa Rosa and many residences were destroyed. Twenty fires started but the water supply was unimpaired and within three hours the flames were under control. Cut off by the disaster from communication with the rest of the world Santa Rosa knew nothing of the destruction of San Francisco until the arrival from there of a train load of refugees, begging for help that could not be given them. Nearby towns came to the rescue.

BABY BORN ON LAWN.

San Francisco, Cal., April 27.—Mrs. Rudolph Spreckles, wife of the well known financier, presented her husband with an heir on the lawn in front of their mansion on Friday, when the family were awaiting the coming of the dynamite squad to blow up their magnificent residence.

San Francisco, April 27.—For the first time since the earthquake street lights were burning in San Francisco last night.

60,000 Buildings Destroyed.

San Francisco, April 27.—A map published here of the burned district shows an area covering 453 city blocks, 111 of which are south of Market street and 342 at the north end. It is estimated that the buildings destroyed will be in the neighborhood of 60,000.

"Shocked" Together.

San Francisco, April 27.—The earthquake separated many couples, but it reunited at least one. Mrs. Lela Frank, of this city, obtained from Judge Kerrigan on March 24 an interlocutory decree of divorce from Irving Frank. The horrors of the earthquake brought the pair together and this morning they sought out Judge Kerrigan and asked him to set aside the decree. A stroke of the pen made the old bonds as good as new and the couple after kissing in presence of the law, locked arms and went away smiling.

MOORE COMMANDERY
Elects Officers for the Ensuing Year.

Moore Commandery, No. 6, K. T., elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Douglas Graham, E. C.; L. R. Davis, generalissimo; N. Stadelman, C. J.; Rev. G. C. Abbit, prelate; J. B. Galbreath, treasurer; R. M. Anderson, recorder; John H. Pendleton, S. W.; A. S. Cox, J. W.; R. J. Garrett; L. Yontz, S. W. B.; N. Zimmer, W.; M. Levy, sentinel. An appropriation of $15 was voted for the sufferers from the San Francisco catastrophe.

Dr. Wyatt will preach his last sermon at the Cumberland Presbyterian church tomorrow.

FIENDISH CRIME AT BAINBRIDGE.

Miss Blanche Smith Criminally Assaulted By a Negro Brute.

WARRANT SWORN OUT.

Deputy Sheriff Smith Sent Yesterday to Arrest Enoch Sims.

Miss Blanche A. Smith, a young woman 20 years of age, an orphan who lives with the family of Mr. James Williams, near Bainbridge, was assaulted by a negro man while alone at the Williams' home last Tuesday about noon.

Miss Smith came to town yesterday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Enoch Sims, a negro living on another farm belonging to Williams in the same neighborhood. The girl was accompanied by Williams, who stated that the master had been kept quiet pending a search for the negro.

The girl's story is that she was alone in the house, getting dinner for the family in the kitchen, when Sims entered the kitchen, locked the door and by force and violence committed a criminal assault upon her. After accomplishing his purpose he left and as soon as she could do so she rang the farm bell to bring Mr. Williams to the house. She told her story to him and he with other neighbors finally located the hiding place of Sims Thursday night. Yesterday after securing the warrant he left with Deputy Sheriff Jewell Smith to make the arrest. As the locality is nearly twenty miles from town, the arrest had not been reported when we went to press.

Miss Smith is a poor but reputable girl, and the crime has aroused a good deal of feeling, though no very great excitement seems to prevail. There is no talk of mob law.

C. & T. R. RAILROAD

Has Reached Cadiz in Survey
Heads This Way.

The preliminary survey of the railroad which is proposed to be built by the Cairo and Tennessee River Railroad Company has been completed to Cadiz, Ky., and the surveying party has gone to Mayfield. The line as surveyed crosses the Tennessee river into Trigg county at Calloway ferry, on the Golden pond, and crosses Cumberland river a few hundred yards above the ferry at Canton; on the creek a short distance on Dyers' chapel and down Caney creek to Cadiz, crossing Little river and striking the Cadiz railroad a mile east of the town boundary. The corps has returned to Mayfield to begin the location of the route along which the road will be built. It will require about two months' time to locate the road between Cadiz and Mayfield, which is a distance, according to the survey just made, of fifty-two and six-tenths miles.

SCREEN LAW

Goes Into Effect Tomorrow
in This City.

The recently passed ordinance requiring the removal of screens from saloons on Sundays will go into effect tomorrow. The saloon men, without exception, have accepted the law in a good spirit and have notified the chief of police that they will obey its provisions. As the saloon men, so far as known, are keeping their voluntary agreement not to sell on Sunday, the question of Sunday violations seems to have been satisfactorily settled in the city.

Dr. W. Y. Erwin, the corn doctor, is in the city for a week or two and orders may be left at the Payne House, corner Eighth and Main streets.

HOME COMING.

Kentuckians Organized By Hundreds In Southern Cities.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4, 1906.
Editor Kentuckian:

I attended a meeting of the Kentucky Society of Los Angeles last Saturday evening and as it was very interesting to all present, I thought an account of it might be interesting to you.

The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce and was called for the purpose of further completing arrangements for the Home Coming excursion. The Kentuckians here are arranging a grand excursion back to their old homes. The arrangements are to arrive in Kentucky on June first. From present appearances there will be a large number go on this excursion. Two trains have already been chartered, which means at least 600 people, and the books are not yet closed. I think when they leave here they will be 1000 strong.

I enjoyed the meeting very much, but as I have my fare back home the excursion proposition did not interest me. So after shaking hands all around, I hooked up with Col. Flanders from Virginia, a gentleman from New York, and a man from Ohio, and took in the sights. I want to say right here that the California people certainly know how to entertain, advertise and boom their country. They, of course, have a good many things here that are produced nowhere else, but they certainly work over time showing them. I was very much interested in one fellow explaining the good points of California fruits, flowers, vegetables, poultry culture and live stock. I couldn't help but smile for I knew we had him beat a mile on everything except that. He explained one thing though that was new to me, and that was the Pacific Preserving Company's system of preserving eggs. By their system eggs are kept nice and fresh for over a year and the cost is practically nothing. I got one of the receipts free and any one can do the same by writing to this firm.

The Kentuckians are very much in evidence in this city. Every place I go I run into somebody I know and I feel as much at home here as I do back in our own State. The Kentucky Society of Los Angeles has a membership of over 2,500 and is still growing. We meet at least once a month and the glad hand of fellowship and good Kentucky hospitality is extended to everybody. Yours truly,

Z. T. BULLITT.

A Kentucky Supplement.

The New York Commercial Tuesday published a supplement of sixteen pages devoted to the commercial and industrial interests of the state of Kentucky. As is natural, Louisville is given the largest share of notice, but the entire state, its advantages to manufacturers, its excellent shipping facilities, its central location, its unrivaled inducements to industrial immigration are brought out with great force. The edition should prove beneficial to Louisville and the state of Kentucky in bringing before the investing public facts that are to little known.—Louisville Post. A contract was made by Hopkinsville business men for a write-up of this kind about four months ago in the New York Commercial, but nothing has been heard from it, unless it has been included in the Louisville supplement.

Lots of Dogs.

Dogs seem to be unusually numerous this spring and very few of them are of any value. The State law against the canines ought to be rigidly enforced in the city and county.

FROM THE PREFACE

"In every situation, General Lee was a great, a dominant figure. The right of Lee has been somewhat lost sight of in the history of the South, but it has always been there, and it is high and noble and true. The Bayard of the South exhibits the character of the Southern gentleman to the full. His a man to be looked up to, to be followed, to be learned. In his earnestness and in his simplicity he is an enduring inspiration to true manhood for all America—the world over."

The Weather.

For Kentucky—Local thunderstorms, followed by cooler Saturday afternoon or night.

Senator James B. McCreary has formerly announced his candidacy for re-election to the U. S. Senate.

Hughes, of West Virginia, has withdrawn the bill proposed for the relief of Caleb Powers.

The Powers benefit bill, drawn by John Langley, will never get out of the committee at Washington.

Wm. M. Roach, a young Philadelphian, married Miss Julia Hidalgo, a Mexican heiress, at the city of Mexico, Wednesday. It was a very swell wedding.

The next reunion of the Confederate veterans will be held at Richmond, Va. The veterans from this city were expected to return from New Orleans last night.

Rev. F. M. Ham, who is now in Italy, writes to the Belling Green Courier that he witnessed the eruption of Vesuvius from Naples.

The Kentucky supplement of the New York Commercial, issued this week, contains half a page devoted to Hopkinsville. Illustrations shown are the Acme Mills and a picture of Dr. J. B. Jackson, president of the Commercial Club.

Wm. O. Miles, a leading lawyer of Brooklyn, and formerly assistant district attorney, has been sentenced to a year in the penitentiary and a fine of $500 for grafting. His clerk, Chas. H. Wells, received the same sentence.

After being defeated two years ago, Capt. R. P. Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac and the champion kisser of America, has this time beaten Congressman Bankehead, of the Sixth Alabama district, by 495 majority and will realize his congressional aspirations.

No such example of generosity has ever before been shown as the cities of the United States and the people have displayed in behalf of the stricken city of San Francisco. Money has poured in from all parts of the country, until the relief fund amounted on Tuesday to $8,470,370.

State Insurance Commissioner Prewitt has announced the appointment of Mott Ayres, of Fulton, as fire marshal under the act of the General Assembly at its recent regular session. The place pays an annual salary of $2,400 and expenses. The law does not become operative until June 15 next. Col. Ayres is at present deputy commissioner of insurance under Commissioner Prewitt.

At a conference of anti-union Presbyterians in Evansville, their attorneys decided to file injunction proceedings in the federal court at Decatur, Ill., on May 7 to prevent the union of the Cumberland Presbyterian with the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. The general assembly of the former Church convenes in Decatur on May 6 and it is the intention of the majority of the presbyteries of the Church to complete the union movement, which has been on foot for four years. If the injunction is granted the greatest legal battle that has ever grown out of a Church movement will be on.

The Confederate reunion in New Orleans is a most notable gathering of the old soldiers. Gen. S. D. Lee, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans, arrived Monday night, and attended a dinner at which he and "Corporal" Tanner, grand commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, were guests of honor. Two cities, Birmingham, Ala., and Richmond, Va., have been mentioned as the places for the next reunion. It is likely that Richmond will be selected, with the Jamestown exposition as an extra attraction.

HIGHEST COURT ON COW LAW.

Running of Cattle at Large
In Populous Community
a Common Nuisance.

PADUCAH TEST CASE.

Opinion By Judge O'Rear
Concurred In By the Court.

The decision of the Court of Appeals last month on the Paducah case settles beyond doubt the question of the constitutionality of a "stock law" such as will go into effect here next Tuesday. In order that those not familiar with the law, may read it we give the syllabus of Judge O'Rear's opinion, which covered every possible phase of the question. It is given below and settles in advance any attempt to resist the new ordinance here.

COURT OF APPEALS DECISION.

1. Municipalities—Cattle running at large—Ordinance regulating—Validity—An ordinance of a city prohibiting cattle from running at large therein, and providing for its impounding and for its sale after due notice and publication, and also imposing a fine on the owner for permitting his cattle to run at large, is not invalid on the ground that it takes effect immediately upon its passage and publication. All ordinances when regularly adopted are matters of public record of which everybody must take notice.

2. Constitutionality—Embracing more than one subject—An ordinance embracing separate sections all relating to the prevention of cattle running at large in a city, various features of which are treated by different sections, is not unconstitutional on the ground that it embraces more than one subject.

3. Presupposes guilt of owner—The ordinance is not invalid because it provides that the owner of the cattle after being summoned, "must appear in court and show cause, if any he can, why he shall not be fined for a violation of the ordinance, and why the animal shall not be sold." Such clauses do not presuppose the guilt of the owner, but merely provide that he may be summoned so that the question of his guilt may be tried, and his plea of "not guilty" puts the burden upon the city to prove his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. If the animal was found at large upon the streets under such circumstances as the ordinance penalizes, it would make a prima facie case of guilt against the owner.

Such examples of generosity has ever before been shown as the cities of the United States and the people have displayed in behalf of the stricken city of San Francisco. Money has poured in from all parts of the country, until the relief fund amounted on Tuesday to $8,470,370.

which has been held to be valid in a state.

4. Due process of law—Inherent power—such ordinance is not unconstitutional on the ground that it deprives the owner of his property without due process of law. This right is exercised under the police power inherent in government whether State or municipal. The running of cattle at large in a populous community is regarded generally as a public nuisance endangering the safety and property of the citizens, and it is competent to regulate the matter by punishing the owner as well as by proceeding in rem against the property itself.

5. Legislative discretion—The ordinance is not invalid because it does not provide for an appeal by the owner of the cattle. This is solely within the discretion of the legislature whether the city cannot regulate the matter of appeals by ordinance.

6. Rural stock law—Chapter 122, Kentucky Statutes, which allows rural communities to adopt a "stock law" by vote does not apply to cities.

BY HOOK OR CROOK

It is Hoped to Prolong the Days of the Town Cow.

Persons opposed to the removal of live stock from the streets of the city are trying to raise funds by subscription to employ attorneys C. H. Bush and John Feland to resist the enforcement of the stock law, which becomes effective May 1st.

A comparison of the Hopkinsville ordinance with that recently passed in Paducah, shows that they are almost identical and as the Paducah law has been upheld by the highest court in the State, it is practically certain that the ordinance to go into effect next Tuesday will stand the test of the courts.

It is understood that the plan will be to enjoin the city authorities from enforcing the law and thereby secure some delay.

Should this method be resorted to, it is unlikely that a special license tax will be placed upon all cattle having the privilege of the streets and that every cow will be required to wear a bell to warn everybody of her approach. The ordinance against leaving horses unhitched may also be amended to include all kinds of live stock. If it is lawful to require horses and mules to be hitched, why not hitch the cows?

POOR OLD CLARKSVILLE

Throws a Fit Every Day
Over the Tobacco
Situation.

PRESS GROWS UGLY.

Fight Against the Tobacco
Association has Come
Out in the Open.

The growing distrust of the Clarksville market is causing the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle to take a position in the matter that is losing friends for it among the members of the Dark Tobacco Association. Column after column of explanatory matter is being printed, none of which seems to satisfy. The members of the Association are by no means deceived, but are backing Col. Ewing almost to a man. They have followed his leadership long enough to know that between him and the Clarksville combine, they will trust Ewing. The members of the association know that when the Clarksville warehousemen declined to keep "hill billy" and association tobacco in separate barns, that they could not be trusted.

Manager Ewing, who talks from the shoulder, has openly charged that fraud was intended and he now finds himself arrayed against the Clarksville warehousemen and newspapers, in the fight for the people's rights. In defending the corruption of Clarksville the Leaf-Chronicle says:

"Lying, slander and blasphemy are the weapons of an atrocious design to influence the Executive Committee and thoughtless farmers to prejudice their minds against the strongest market they have and build up little markets all over the country giving the shrewd speculator and grafter a chance to mullet a easy farmer for a good take-out."

This reference, of course, includes Hopkinsville and other honest markets that are getting the tobacco that used to go to Clarksville. Hopkinsville is the geographical center of the district; its warehouses are in the association; its tobacco men are honest and incorruptible, and the buyers, as well as the sellers, are not afraid to trust its business methods. As a result, Hopkinsville is getting much of the trade that has been run out of Clarksville.

Maybe after awhile the Clarksville "bunch" will realize that "honesty is the best policy".

PRETTY APRIL WEDDINGS.

and Mrs. Curd on Their

OTHER NUPTIAL NOTES.

Rumor of Wedding of Popular
South Christian Couple
About Middle of May.

Miss Letticia Fairleigh, youngest daughter of Mrs. Anna Fairleigh, and Mr. Edward Curd, Jr., were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother at four o'clock Thursday afternoon. It was a pretty home wedding, witnessed by a limited number of close friends and relatives, and the members of the As You Like Club, of which the bride is a member.

The maid of honor was Miss Alice Scobey and Mr. James Eggleston of Franklin, Tenn., was the best man. Rev. Dr. E. L. Southgate, of Nashville, performed the ceremony in his usual impressive manner. The parlors were beautifully decorated in white and green, white carnations being much in evidence.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride donned a traveling dress and Mr. and Mrs. Curd left at 5:18 for Franklin, Tenn., where they will visit relatives for several days before going to their home in the West.

They were accompanied to the depot by a number of friends, who showered them with rice as they boarded the train.

Mr. Curd is a prominent attorney of Muskogee, Indian Territory, who formerly lived at Franklin, Tenn.

The bride is one of Hopkinsville's most attractive young women, whose departure will be a great loss in the social and club circles of the city.

STAR MONKEY ACTOR.

Carries Himself With the Air of Man of World—Some of His Stunts.

With Seibel Bros.' Dog and Pony Show, which will give two performances here next Monday, are a number of very extraordinary monkey actors.

The star actor of the lot appears to be a sort of Berry Wall of the "500." His name is McAllister, and he is very proud of it. Mc. dresses like a man and eats like a man. His table etiquette is said to be superior to that of some men. He never does the "sword swallowing act," which, in circus parlance, means using a knife instead of a fork to carry the food to the mouth. His clothes are of the latest cut, and he dresses in the height of fashion, and always enters the arena carrying a cane. He wears a silk hat and patent leather shoes, and has a valet to wait on him from the time the performance commences until it is over.

It takes half an hour to get Mc. ready for his appearance before an audience, for he is said to be very fastidious about his personal appearance. In fact the most remarkable thing about him is his vanity. His hair must be parted just right and his trousers have the proper creases, as otherwise he will insist upon delaying his appearance until his wardrobe is satisfactory. He wants to be the whole thing while he is before the audience.

Mc. does an eating act which is the hit of the show. He has his meals served hot, eats with a fork, uses a napkin, pays his check and never forgets to tip the waiter. All of which is said to be very comical, and affords unbounded delight to the little folks especially.

Seibel Bros. have many remarkable actors, including dogs, ponies and monkeys, but Mc. is the bright particular star of the outfit, and, it is claimed, he is the most valuable four-legged performer in the show business.

THREE IN ONE.

Three Daily Papers of San Francisco Issue Joint Number.

Mr. James Watson has a paper published the morning after the great earthquake and fire at San Francisco on the 18th inst. It was sent to him by his brother, S. T. Watson, auditor of the Oakland Traction Co., who spent Wednesday in San Francisco, returning to Oakland after 9 o'clock that night. He wrote his brother that the various newspaper reports of the great disaster do not tell half its horrors. "The Call-Chronicle-Examiner" is a 4-page paper and was the best the three papers could do after the destruction of the three offices. All the space is devoted to the earthquake, not a line of editorial or local matter entering into its make-up.

A man named Alfred Lander was killed at San Francisco who probably related to the large family of that 117 ADDITIONS IN 12 DAYS.

Revival Services at Christian Church Closed Last Night.

AN ECHO MEETING.
Most Successful Individual Meeting Ever Held Here.

The labors of Dr. Crossfield here during the past eleven days have been greatly blessed. Rev. H. D. Smith, his officers and members have done one of the greatest works of their lives in assisting the evangelist in the conduct of the meetings, and the results have been greater than that of any individual church.

The additions by letter and confession since the meetings began on Monday night April 16th, up to the close of Thursday night, were 112. 6 united on confession and three by letter at the close of that service.

The singing, under the leadership of Mr. St. John, has contributed largely to the success of the meetings. He is a fine director, and as a soloist has won the admiration of almost everyone who has heard him. He is a young man of wonderful vocal power and has consecrated his talent to God. He had rather serve the Lord in the work in which he is engaged than chase dollars through the different avenues of the world's business. When we consider what he is in his young manhood as a gospel singer, we wonder what he will be a decade hence. Dr. Crossfield said Thursday night that Mr. St. John sings for the Lord because he loves it, thinks it his duty, and though he could make two dollars for one in other occupations, yet he expects to remain in the place where God has put him and use the talent he has given him for His glory. The singer is a good conversationalist, unassuming and has made a host of friends since he came here, who will welcome his return sometime in the future.

The subject of Dr. Crossfield's sermon Thursday night was "What Will Thou Have Me Do?" In the presentation and answer to this great question of every converted soul the preacher delivered one of his most practical and instructive sermons since he has been here. It is impossible for us in our brief space to follow him through his magnificent discourse. He first spoke of what the minister should be, his thorough consecration and piety. And the people in the pews must be just like him. This develops them and causes them to shine forth to the glory of God. Then it is that the Christian wants to know what God will have them do, though they do not expect the skies to open and orally hear God's answer. God does not want us to work the whole of six days for the things of this life and give him a little part of one day. He does not only want us to make a living, he wants us to make a life. He then spoke of the waste of power—the waters of Niagara, the waste of the power in the storm and the waste of the waves of the ocean? Why cannot these great powers be harnessed and made of service to man. He spoke of these in order to point Christians to the great waste of talent. A man may spend six days of the week making a living for his family—he ought to—but, said he, "all this time we ought to be exerting our infor him in your avocation, no matter what it is. God wants the consecration of our means. John Wesley said: "Make all you can; save all you can; give all you can." He had heard an old man say, "I have served God all my life, and it has cost me only $13." A man's pocket-book ought to be baptized with him. If a man is stingy he is almost certain to fall away from God. He then spoke at length of death-bed confessions. He does not believe in them. In a ministry of more than fifteen years he has never known of but one man carrying out what he had promised God he would do if he would let him live. To the man who had drifted away from the church and gone back into the paths of sin he made a most urgent appeal to return to God. God is good to them and wants them to come back to Him, but if a man fails and won't rise and come back to God he is off the track. If he will ask God to help him he can get back and enjoy serving God again, but he can't get back by himself. A man can rise upon the stepping stones of his dead life and go back to the Father, but he must start. Statistics prove that 90 per cent. of the men who go into business in this country fail. Suppose these men, discouraged by their failure, should never attempt to do anything again, we wouldn't have anything very long. But they rise and start again and correct the mistakes they made at first and succeed. He pleaded with the sinner to come to God, calling upon them to believe in God, repent of their sins and confess him before the world. God says to the sinner: "Do this and I'll give you the victory." The trouble with sinners is that they do not make the start or look for obstacles in their way to God. They want God to do everything. He wants them to have faith, and he throws tests of their faith across their way—baptism, confessing Him before the world, etc. But God always wants the sinner and the back-slader to come back home and he will always help them on their way.

At the afternoon service yesterday there were five additions, which brings the total up to 117.

A Welcome Visitor.

The only big show of the season will visit Hopkinsville on Friday, May 11.

Surely this item of news will please the young folks, the children and the older ones also. Sun Bros.' World's Progressive Railroad Show is one that has a standing record for presenting a good performance. Sun Brothers run their show strictly on business and moral principles. Nothing is permitted to appear that will mar the pleasure of the skeptically inclined. Neither are the usual army of fakirs (often seen following in the wake of shows) allowed to follow this organization. The long-standing reputation of the Sun Brothers throughout America and the Dominion of Canada shall not be jeopardized by allowing any catch-penny affair to be connected with their show. Fifty great celebrated artists will appear at every performance. Fully two hours and a half of enjoyment is afforded. Let all attend. Afternoons at 2 o'clock, evenings at 8 o'clock.

Vernon Ackerman, Warfield Garnett and Mrs. Will Forgy. There was no special attraction and the above parties, besides others, merely came down to do a little shopping or to attend to business matters.
